The Timken Foundation has donated more than $400 million globally since its inception in 1934.

[Quote from RPC Executive Director Lisa Hayworth] “We at the Partnership for Children have been somewhat hesitant to direct funds to our physical plant beyond minimal maintenance and upkeep. This is oftentimes the case with nonprofits, because we know the need for our programs and services is so great. Yet the years do take a toll on buildings, and it is time to invest in this space that we love so that it can continue to serve as the Partnership’s home for years to come. We are grateful to The Timken Foundation for recognizing that our organization’s physical space is a key part of our outreach, functionality, and ability to fulfill our mission to the community.”
