The Randolph Partnership for Children invites you to our Annual Meeting Breakfast on October 22 at Pinewood Country Club. Starting at 7:45 AM, this event offers a chance to hear about our impact in the past year and how we're working to support early childhood education and families across Randolph County. Whether you're a community partner, donor, or simply interested in learning more, we welcome you to join us for breakfast and great conversation. Reserve your spot today and be part of the change we're making for our youngest learners!

Art Explosion 2024

The child care services team of the Randolph Partnership for Children is proud to announce the Art Explosion has returned. Art Explosion is an exciting community outreach event that transforms local libraries and downtown Asheboro businesses into a vibrant gallery of young children's artwork. The works of many small artists are on display for your viewing pleasure! Take a stroll and who knows, you may see the next Leonardo da Vinci!

Annual Gift of Reading Book Raising

Every year, our Annual Gift of Reading initiative aims to provide new books to young children across Randolph County. We accept both monetary donations and new books for this initiative, and this year we're excited to announce our first book drive for this event! As the community gathers for the festive parades this December, we'll be there, handing out over 6,000 books and spreading the joy of reading to the youngest parade-goers. Research has shown that children in homes with more books not only read more but have higher-level reading skills and attain more years of education than children with access to fewer books. So, every book donated helps put the gift of literacy into the hands of a child, opening up a world of imagination and learning. Please consider donating today and making this holiday season magical for our community's children!

How to Prepare for Your Child's Well-Child Appointment

What to Expect at Your Child's Well-Child Visit

Well-child visits are an important part of keeping your child healthy, tracking their growth, and addressing any concerns early on. Before your next visit, take a moment to prepare! Write down any questions you may have about your child's development, sleep, nutrition, or behavior. Be sure to bring along key items like their vaccination record, a list of medications, and a comfort item to help them feel at ease. Well-child visits are also an excellent opportunity to track milestones—whether it's their first words or learning to walk. Remember, these check-ups are here to support your child's healthy future!

Business After Hours: Roaring into the Future!

Our Roaring into the Future 1920's celebration has transformed into a Business After Hours event in partnership with the Asheboro/Randolph Chamber of Commerce! Come celebrate 25 years of the Randolph Partnership for Children and 100 years of the Hayworth House!

Join us on November 14 at the Hayworth House for a Roaring 20's themed evening filled with networking, fall-inspired food from The Table, and great company. 1920s attire is encouraged, so get ready to step back in time!

Best of all, this event is completely free—no tickets required.

Date: 11/14/2024

Time:

Location: Hayworth House

We're excited to celebrate 25 years of service to Randolph County, alongside 100 years of the Hayworth House's history. We can't wait to see you there!
